Acknowledgements

We thank KCCatalyst and the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation for their financial support; David Frankland and Lesa Mitchell for their comments; Edward J. Malecki, Chris Forman, Avi Goldfarb, and Shane Greenstein for making available to us unpublished data that they have compiled; and the Cluster Mapping Project at Harvard University’s Graduate School of Business Administration for providing special tabulations of patent data.

A number of colleagues at the KU Policy Research Institute have contributed to this study. Patricia Oslund and Xanthippe Stevens have provided a wealth of valuable advice for which we are extremely grateful. Susan Mercer provided assistance with copy editing and Laura Stull did excellent work on the layout and presentation of material in this report. We thank them for their assistance.

The Kauffman Foundation, KCCatalyst, PRI, and KU are not responsible for any opinions expressed in this report.